

Hank Haney Junior Development

“A Great Game Plan leads to long lasting improvements....” Hank Haney

The Program

Hank Haney’s success in developing top juniors over the past 30 years is because he creates great individual game plans for improvement, he encourages junior to dream big and he constantly monitors individual practice. Hank says “the best practice is achieved when the player gets consistent, immediate and accurate feedback.” Individual practice at the junior level very seldom achieves this goal. The Hank Haney Junior Development Program was established to model those three keys to improvement.

The Format

Hank Haney Junior development is an age and skill based five (5) Level system designed to encourage effective practice so juniors can improve their game quickly. All juniors will be evaluated by a Certified Hank Haney Instructor and be placed in a group that will encourage their development. Each group will be supervised by a team of Certified Hank Haney Instructors who will lead the group through specific skill development drills in the areas of putting, chipping, pitching, bunker, full swing, and playing the game. Each practice session is 90 minutes in length and is offered at convenient times each week.

Why Small Group Practice?

Simply put, junior golfers receive better practice at a lower cost. We pair similar age and skill groups in a maximum 5:1 student teacher ratio. These small group practice sessions encourage focused individual practice through drills, games and contests with consistent instructor feedback. Lastly, the most cost effective way to receive consistent coaching, encouragement, direction, inspiration, and instruction is a focused small group setting.

The Goal

To create Junior Champions at all levels!
